

Divine Mother Energy & Earth Unite Now

Divine Mother Channeling through Sol' Ara An

June 27, 2009

Dear Divine Mother, Holy Father God, I would like to know if you have a message for me regarding this months apparent changes in our frequency on Earth. I am open to the highest message possible through me now please. Thank you.

Dearest one, yes, I see the struggle within. On the one hand you feel nothing has changed, and the other so much change has occurred that you are unclear as to what it is. There is nothing to worry about. Your timing for communication is perfect as always.

It is time to reassess, all of you, where you want to go from here. It may feel like nothing is holding you up from the ground, like the floor has been removed. This is the process of letting go of that which you thought was in existence in your life and that which is coming to be. Truth of spiritual nature is difficult to translate into human consciousness. Let's just say your needs as a human may have changed. Instead of wondering "if" something will happen, you might now just ask that it will or will not happen... as you certainly are the true creator of you world. And manifestation is becoming much clearer to all of you as you experience a thing that you only thought of ... a few moments ago. For some this may not be noticed, as each ones body and Soul must match in frequency in order to feel and see these changes and these objects of your wants. Desire certainly plays its part, but in the energy field of the new galactic energy of oneness, you have the "elixir" you have awaited in order that you might have your wants and desires in an expedient way. That opportunity teaches direct responsibility. Concern is not needed; it shall be proven within each person's ability to comprehend their own thoughts. Focus upon others and the world in general, yet place your true desire and wants in the correct focus... within the heart. Focus upon the heart and allowing the "vision" to be within the heart... opens the door into physical for clear manifestation. Change the thought and the vision, and it dissolves from the intensity it might have held for you.

Bodies are shifting quickly now, and as you may have noticed many are choosing not to continue this "game" as it has been decided. The change to open the door for quick manifestation has caused many humans to look for other experiences that bring less stress if you will. And some are so tired, this may be the best choice. You see, there is no "contract" or "have to" in regard to the life a Soul chooses to live. You live as you will, and when you are complete, you choose your time to leave and regroup. A "human" perspective that was given in your old "religious" writings was that God chose your life and your time of departure, not you. And in our knowing, this is false. You are the creator and the decider of your life experience. This is part of the "free-will law" given to all Soul's who participate in the Earth life experience.

What now? Well, it is truly and entirely up to you. As we have stated before, what you believe in, what you think, and the part you play in the world is also what adds to the "collective consciousness". And so you might look at what your responsibility is to the world. Everything you partake in within your own mind and heart is created and manifested along with all those who think and feel as you do on this Earth. Therefore, everyone is participating in the changes taking place now, no matter your physical involvement. Where you chose to be born, the country you live in, this all was chosen prior to your birth for a purpose, not a contract, but a purpose of experience that you chose to participate in. Of course it was of interest to your Soul group that you have these particular experiences, and that you affect the experiences of the "groups" you agreed to participate with in your environment. Again, your choices are what are occurring in your world now as a whole. Keeping this in mind, we might suggest you become more consciously aware of what your "true" beliefs and thoughts are each moment, and make changes if you do not want to be part of that belief in the collective manifestation. You can always change your mind, but you may not change the direction the collective consciousness decides to go. However, the ever focused mind on the heart shall always be the energy first recognized by the Universe in looking for the changes needed upon the Earth. The reason being, the heart is a stronger frequency than the mind or energies of negativity. The positive love and compassion energy is a higher frequency and thus it is the frequency most heard and manifested.

Fear is strong now, but so is Love. Therefore the choice is simple... follow the energy you most want to see in the world.

If you are tired, sleep. Rest. There are no laws that say you must always stay on top of everything; unless of course, you created them. Change takes time, and with such an energy influx of Love and the change to the "Mother", which this is, you will find it very important to allow the rest. The Mother is the energy you feel now. The ability to go within, to rest, to meditate in peace, and allow the energy of Soul and God's love to flow through and out from you is of the nurturing and all loving Mother God. So many of you have spent your time "striving" to BE something, now "The Divine Mother" asks that you stop the striving, and that you allow the flow of eternal love and compassion through your being. Change your life path to the path of the heart, and the balance of the Mother and the Father God energies shall ground... all in the time your Eternal Source will require. Surrender to the love of the Mother and know peace. Strive, and continue to feel the pull of the pain. It is always your choice.

In conclusion, we have only this to say: If you believe that you have risen above your brothers and sisters of Earth, you are mistaken. Take the time to remember what we have told you many times, you are One. You are all part of everything that is. Your God, Creator

Source did not give special value to only a few. Look not to the ones who would cause you to doubt your own truth. It is time to allow the love to flow through you enough to find peace within your own life. To love all those around you in compassion, by accepting them as they are. Know that you may find there is nothing more to teach or to heal. Perhaps it is time to live. Time to be grateful for every breath you breathe... and to be grateful that your life is your own. You choose, and stand in the knowing that the light and the dark, regardless of those who believe they have risen above this, is still within humanity and the Earth. Until you come home, this shall be so. Believe it or not, it is your choice. If you love one another and give assistance to those around you and those you come into awareness of that you are capable to help, this is the highest work you can do. When you accept that you must allow this "grounding" energy of the higher Soul you are into your physical form, and allow the reintegration process to take place as it is, your peace shall certainly bless you.

Walk strong, and separate from none. Keep your heart open... your life shall surely show you the path you are on. If you walk from the heart... to the Earth... you shall always know Love and Peace... always! Trusting your God, your Source, that which created all that is... that is your only work left.

With great love we bless you!
