

Aztec Announces Its Second Successful Well in Liberty County, Texas

HOUSTON, TX April 4, 2011 -- Aztec Oil & Gas, Inc. (Pink Sheets: AZGS – News) recently announced the successful completion of its first well in Liberty County, the Dyco Blanding #1. Aztec now announces the successful drilling of its second well in Liberty County. The Blackstone 80 #1 well was recently completed in the Cockfield Channel sand that is a known prolific producer in the area. Initial production rates averaged approximately 50 to 60 barrels of oil per day.

“Based on the results of these two wells, we believe we have several additional potential locations for future development in this county,” stated Waylan Johnson, President of Aztec Oil & Gas, Inc. Mr. Johnson further stated, “As a result of the foregoing, we anticipate that Aztec will participate in at least 3-5 wells in this field and surrounding areas in 2011.”

About Aztec Oil & Gas, Inc.

Aztec is an experienced oil and gas exploration, development and production company focusing on Texas plus other areas of the U.S. Its interests are highly diversified between exploration drilling and development drilling; however, when it offers drilling/production partnerships, Aztec focuses primarily on shallow, Texas, low risk, development wells. When offered, those programs/partnerships are placed only by FINRA registered Broker Dealers and Registered Investment Advisors with accredited investor partners, and are focused primarily on oil, with natural gas normally a secondary target.

Aztec entered the sponsored drilling program industry in 2006. Over the next two and one half years, it intentionally restricted itself to only three small, very limited Appalachian drilling partnerships in order to study and become fully familiar with the nuances of the sponsored drilling program industry before expanding to the Company's full capabilities. In the summer of 2008, Aztec publicly announced it was discontinuing any natural gas drilling in Appalachia, and was ready to substantially expand its sponsored drilling program activities, primarily for oil in Texas.

Since 2008, Aztec has, indeed, focused most of its drilling partnerships on oil wells in Texas. In addition to its early, initial three small Appalachian natural gas drilling partnerships mentioned above, Aztec has, intermittently, sponsored and closed eight other drilling/production partnerships (all of the latter focused on drilling for oil in Texas). Aztec Energy LLC, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Aztec, is the Managing General Partner of all Aztec drilling partnerships and another wholly-owned Aztec subsidiary, Aztec Drilling & Operating, LLC, is the drilling contractor and operator for such partnerships. Through its own participation and contributions, Aztec owns a 30% interest in all of its drilling/production partnerships. In general clarification of its activities, in addition to its own direct corporate participations in industry partner wells, Aztec sometimes sponsors low risk, development drilling/production programs which include significant tax benefits, all of which are placed only through FINRA Registered Broker Dealers and Registered Investment Advisors to Accredited Investors. Aztec's sponsored drilling/production programs, when offered, focus primarily on shallow oil/gas drilling, are considered unique, and also incorporate a sophisticated exit strategy for investors.
