Trainer's Spotlight

Linda Lee-Bower

Linda, owner of Woodridge Farm, is a Montoursville native with more than twenty five years of riding experience. Teaching professionally for over seven years, she offers her students an enjoyable approach to learning, always putting safety first. Linda specializes in teaching young and beginner riders the basics with imaginative and engaging exercises, giving them a solid foundation to build on in a supportive environment. More advanced students also thrive on Linda's easy going teaching style, learning in a correct and positive way.

Linda's background encompasses many disciplines: starting out showing Quarter Horses, she has competed in Western Pleasure, Hunt Seat, Hunter/Jumper and Dressage. She has the experience to help you become a better rider, while having lots of fun along the way.

Linda has ridden under Walter Zettl, Carel Eijkenaar, Jo-Anne Young and Karen Orloff-Yatsko. She trained earlier in her riding with Cia Reis & Judy Newvine-Croon (AKA, Judy the Great!) and Wendy Armstrong, who Linda feels gave her good solid basics to build on and the competitive edge she needed.

Most recently Linda has entered the world of Reining. She has taken instruction from Debby Grove of Cloverdale Farms located in Mifflinburg, PA. She also just started working cattle with Brad Wiest.

Linda believes there is always something new to learn... and continuing to educate herself brings back more information to her students.

Horse Boarding

Woodridge Farm is situated on 13 acres in the beautiful Susquehanna Valley, surrounded by rolling farmland and state gamelands. Our facility boasts an historic 150-year old bank barn and farmhouse overlooking 2 large ponds. The inside of the barn has been renovated to be open and airy for our equine friends.

The horses' environment is kept as close to nature as we can. The farm offers large grass pastures and an abundance of turnout time to keep our equine friends healthy and happy. You will find friendly boarders who ride Competitive Trail, run barrels, ride Hunters, show Dressage and Reining and truly love horses. All of us enjoy trail riding. Owner on premise.
