

We believe in our heart that there are some very special people out there that can tremendously bless our nonprofit organization. We have families and our military soldiers that are struggling to find shelter for their sons and daughters. We especially owe it to our soldiers who are fighting wars overseas and here at home so we and our families can be safe. My wife and I are retired military soldiers and as the founder of Faith National Family Ministry, I am also a member of the Disabled American Veteran's and The American Legion. We prefer not to apply for government grants but would rather receive donations from individuals, families, businesses, organizations, and foundations. If the Lord has blessed you with tremendous wealth, please help by being a blessing to others in need.

“O Breath of Life, come sweeping through us. “Revive Your Church with life and power; “O Breath of Life, come, cleanse, renew us, “And fit Your Church to meet this hour.” “O Wind of God, come bend us, break us, “Till humbly we confess our need; “Then in Your tenderness remake us, “Revive, restore, for this we plead.” “O Breath of Love, come breathe within us, “Renewing thought and will and heart; “Come, Love of Christ, afresh to win us, “Revive Your Church in every part.” “O Heart of Christ, once broken for us, “Tis there we find our strength and rest; “Our broken contrite hearts now solace, “And let your waiting Church be blest.” “Revive us, Lord! Is zeal abating “While harvest fields are vast and white? “Revive us, Lord; the world is waiting “Equip Your Church to spread the light.”

What The Believer Can Have In The Lord:

It is said that the following story is true. A man and his wife, very poor, made plans to migrate from Europe to the United States. In fact, they saved what little money that came into their possession for several years, before accumulating enough to purchase the cheapest tickets on an ocean liner. This was in the early 1900's. The great day arrived and they boarded the great ship to come to America. It took nearly two weeks to make the crossing, and toward the end of the journey, one of the pursers happened to be walking down the hall by their little cabin. The door was open, so he stopped in order to chat for a few minutes. He noticed that there were cracker crumbs on the bed. They saw him looking at the crumbs, and quickly answered that they had just finished eating their noon meal. He said, “What do you mean, you've just finished eating your noon meal?” They went on to explain to him that they only had enough money to pay for the tickets for the crossing, but nothing left for food; therefore, they had carried with them what food they could, and they now remarked, “It's getting quite stale, hence the crumbs.” He looked at them in astonishment. He said, “Do you not know that the tickets you purchased included all the meals, in fact, as much as you want or desire?” No, they had not known that, and had caused themselves undue discomfort, when they could have had the finest food on the ship, and, in fact, all they wanted. Most Christians are doing the same thing, as it regards Christ. The ticket, so to speak, purchased at Calvary has paid for everything. And if we don't have everything, and I speak of total and complete victory, and in every aspect, then it's not the fault of the Lord, but rather our own fault. Sadly, that is the lot of most Christians! Doesn't it make sense, considering the price paid by our Lord, that He wants us to have everything for which He has paid such a price?!
