Background & Experience

After earning his degree in marketing from Millikin University, Brent decided to get into the insurance space to be able to help clients understand and make informed decisions about protecting against risk in their life. Brent initially began his insurance career working for both Prudential and Allstate on their career advisor team. Brent excelled in helping advisors grow their practices. One of the primary ways was by being able to recognize the opportunities to help the advisor's client understand insurance planning concepts. Brent won numerous awards for recruiting, leadership, and production during his time at Prudential and Allstate.

After 17 years on the career distribution side, Brent joined Element Insurance in Omaha, NE. Brent worked with financial planners, wealth management teams and trust officers to help their clients evaluate their situations and design unique strategies to help in estate planning, business succession, or other advanced ideas. In August of 2022, Brent decided to join the team at Insurance Design Network, where he hopes to continue to help support advisors with their insurance planning needs. Brent and his wife, Diana, have 4 wonderful kids spanning from college to 1st grade and spend a lot of times at baseball fields and dance performances. Brent and his family have lived all over the Midwest and now proudly call Omaha their home. They are actively involved in their local church, Relevant, and love serving their community and making it a great place to call home.
