Anthony DiMona has been an expert in the Asset-Based Long-Term Care field for over a decade. Most of this time was spent as an External Wholesaler with Lincoln Financial, educating financial advisors across the Midwest on Lincoln's MoneyGuard Long-Term Care solutions.

In 2018, Anthony became an independent insurance specialist. He now assists advisors across the country with a much broader array of insurance planning.

With his history as a Long-Term Care specialist, Anthony helps comprehensive financial planners reallocate existing assets in the client's portfolio to cover the massive cost of extended health care, while also retaining the asset's value if care is not needed. He also has extensive experience with positioning appropriate strategies using life insurance with Chronic Illness and Long-Term Care riders along with Asset-Based solutions.

Anthony lives in the Kansas City metro area with his wife Gabriella, their two sons, Dominic and Louis, and their daughter, Stella.
