For more than 25 years, David has concentrated on providing advisors and clients with advanced insurance design, focusing on estate, business and retirement planning. His vast knowledge and expertise in life insurance, disability insurance and long-term care solutions proves invaluable to both clients as well as their advisors during the planning process.

After graduating from Michigan State University in 1991 with a Bachelor of Science, David spent 8 years at a boutique insurance and pension design firm in New York City, before joining American Business in May 1999. After living on Long Island for most of his life, David and his family now live in the Hill Country outside of Austin, TX.
