Background & Experience

Wayne Hill has been in the financial services industry for more than 20 years. Prior to focusing exclusively on insurance planning, he worked in wealth management at Merrill Lynch starting in 2002. Wayne spent the next 15 years at Northwestern Mutual where he learned his craft and found a passion for working with business owners and families with significant planning needs. Wayne focuses on estate planning, wealth transfer, executive compensation, and business-related insurance. He joins Lion Street after a two-year stint in the estate and business planning group at First Republic Bank, where he worked closely with wealth management teams, private bankers and business bankers.

Wayne lives in Orinda, California, and is married to Jenny Hill. They have three kids—twins Henry and Lila and son Matthew. In his free time, he enjoys skiing, tennis, hiking and traveling.
