As marketing representative at Tennessee Brokerage, Zach continually develops strong advisor relationships and helps provide solutions that allow advisors to succeed with clients. His roles consist of participating in point-of-sale meetings, designing needs analysis profiles, constructing wealth transfer solutions, and providing innovative marketing ideas to advisors. TBA has been in the life insurance business since 1959, with a focus on helping advisors succeed.

Zach was born in Los Angeles and relocated to Knoxville at the age of seven. He pitched for the University of Tennessee baseball team from 2005-2006, before sustaining an arm injury which forced his baseball career retirement. In his spare time, Zach enjoys playing golf, spending time with his family, exercising and attending church. He also enjoys working as a volunteer baseball coach in Rocky Hill during the summers.
