Zach joined the Charlotte branch of Dixon Wells June of 2016. Prior to his move to Dixon Wells, Zach worked at Wells Fargo Advisors, in High Point, NC, working directly with the First Vice President - Investments. Here, Zach would develop and execute strategies to help grow the producer's business, organize a strong business plan, and consult on daily financial activity. Before moving to financial services Zach gained well-rounded experience in communication, marketing and research working with Novant Health in a marketing role as well as in the research department for a North Carolina Senator.

Zach is an active member of the Financial Planners Association of Charlotte, NC. He also works as a Committee Member for the FPA NexGen group, with the goal of connecting young professionals in the financial services industry. Zach has the professional designation of Certified in Long Term Care (CLTC®) and is in the process of getting his Certified Financial Planner (CFP®) designation through Queens University of Charlotte. Zach received a Master of Arts degree in Strategic Communication from High Point University. Zach's concentration for his master's degree was in Health Communication and Public Relations. Zach also received his undergraduate degree from High Point University. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Strategic Communication and Marketing.
