GO Business: The Great Commission @ Work

One-Day Training Seminar (9:00 AM – 3:00 PM)

Almost from the moment of creation, mankind has been at work. Consider this:

Then the Lord God formed the man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living creature. And the Lord God planted a garden in Eden, in the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed . . . the Lord God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it. (Genesis 2:7-8, 15 ESV)

From the very beginning, God's plan included people at work. So, work is part of God's plan and work is part of the human condition.

For the follower of Christ, work is more than a place to hold down a job, earn a living or build a career. Work is mission and the workplace is a mission field. Amy Sherman, in her book, Kingdom Calling, names this relationship between work and mission Vocational Stewardship, and she writes: Evangelism that leads people to follow Jesus offers new believers a foretaste of the intimacy with God they will one day experience for eternity. Many of us have opportunities to do evangelism through our work-based relationships. (p. 34)

Often, the largest pool of people in our lives is at work. The workplace is truly a plentiful harvest field. The question is, "Are we ready to labor as we labor?"
