The bottom window is the NYSE McClellan Oscillator. Its rare for the McClellan Oscillator to reach above +300, Friday it closed at +351. We identified the times when the McClellan Oscillator closed above +300 (going back to mid 2005) with blue vertical lines and all happen at significance lows or in an uptrend. What that means on the current market is that the SPX is building a base to go higher or the rally has started. In both scenario's, it suggests the down trend is over. The rally over the last three days produced a “Zweig Breadth Thrust”. This indicator signals the start of a potential new bull market when it moves from a level of below 40% to a level above 61.5% within any 10-day period. We pointed out previous times on the chart above when the “Zweig Breadth Thrust” occurred. Could be basing here but a new bull run is possible. Join us on twitter. Its easier to see on the bottom window; which is the ETF for Gold, GLD. Gld is on the monthly timeframe and its easy to see the Bollinger Bands pinching. The "pinch" could go on for a couple of months or end today, it hard to say when the "pinch" will end. The pattern forming appears to be a Head and Shoulders bottom which usually are symmetric both in time and price. The Left Shoulder took about 1 ½ years to form which in turn the Right Shoulder should take about 1 ½ years to form and GLD is at that mark now. The Gold chart (the big window) shows that market has only retraced 38.2% of the rally that began in late 2018 and suggests gold is at the half way point of the up move suggests a strong rally is very near. Time is running out of the Bollinger Band "Pinch" and an impulse wave higher should be starting soon. New Book release "The Secret Science of Price and Volume" by Timothy rd, buy www.Amazon.com.
