

MARCH NEWS FROM

● ● ● INCHICORE ● ● ●

March brought a whirlwind of excitement with its weekly themes and special days at our school. From exploring the fascinating world of birds to immersing ourselves in Irish culture for St. Patrick's Day and preparing for the joyous Easter celebrations, each week was filled with unique learning experiences. Additionally, we marked special days such as Mother's Day, World Book Day, International Women's Day, World Autism Awareness Day, and Down Syndrome Awareness Day, fostering a sense of appreciation, understanding, and inclusivity within our community. It was a month of diverse exploration, heartfelt celebrations, and meaningful connections as we embraced a rich tapestry of themes and events together.

LILIES-WOBBLERS ROOM

In March, our tiny Lilies continued their journey of discovery with a rich tapestry of engaging themes. We explored birds, embraced Irish culture for St. Patrick's Day, and anticipated Easter. Alongside, we celebrated special days like Mother's Day, World Book Day, International Women's Day, World Autism Awareness Day, and Down Syndrome Awareness Day, fostering community and understanding. March was a month of connection and learning, filled with memorable experiences. The children and teachers dressed in green for St. Patrick's Day, crafted cards and baked heart-shaped cookies for their moms, and enjoyed story time and activities for World Book Day, celebrating reading together.

LOTUS- TODDLERS ROOM

In the Toddlers' Room, the little ones joined in the festive spirit of St. Patrick's Day by dressing up in green attire. They also engaged in creative activities, crafting bookmarks in anticipation of Book Day. During story time, they explored themes of awareness and inclusion for Autism and Down Syndrome Awareness Day, fostering understanding and empathy. Additionally, they celebrated Easter by creating adorable hand-print bunnies and crafting heartfelt cards for their mummies, showcasing their love and appreciation.

ROSEBUDS-ECCE ROOM

In March, the Rosebuds Room experienced the magic of a snowy day, decorating the windows and playing in the garden with wonder and excitement. They then explored the world of birds, crafting handmade birds using wool and building nests from branches collected in the garden. For World Book Day, they dressed up in their favourite costumes and engaged in activities to celebrate the joy of reading. As Mother's Day approached, they prepared heartfelt handmade cards to express their love and appreciation. Donning festive costumes, they celebrated St. Patrick's Day with enthusiasm and creativity. On World Autism Day, they hosted a special event, welcoming children from ASD classes for inclusive activities that promoted understanding and unity.

ORCHIDS- AFTERSCHOOL ROOM

In March, the Afterschool students delved into a range of engaging weekly themes, including Birds, St. Patrick's Day, and Easter, fostering curiosity and exploration. Additionally, they celebrated significant events such as Book Day, World Autism Day, Mother's Day, and Down Syndrome Awareness Day, promoting awareness, empathy, and inclusivity within the community.

BLUEBELLS- SWEETPEAS- DAFFODILS ASD ROOMS

In March, our ASD classes embarked on an enriching journey, exploring birds, celebrating St. Patrick's Day, and anticipating Easter. Alongside, we observed special days like Mother's Day, World Book Day, International Women's Day, World Autism Awareness Day, and Down Syndrome Awareness Day, fostering community and understanding. March was a month of connection and learning, filled with memorable experiences. Additionally, we ran individual education programs tailored to each child's needs, focusing on areas for skill improvement based on their IEPs. The children and teachers joyously participated in festivities, dressing in green for St. Patrick's Day, crafting cards for moms, and enjoying story time for World Book Day, fostering a love for reading.
